Georgios Liveris. Author and Journalist. General Secretary of Hellenic Olympians Association

"....Dear Professor, Mr. Mallia, I have to admit that your book excited me whether I see it as a careful edition through the eyes of an experienced journalist, or consider it as a member of the Olympic family, or finally as a writer who is struggling to gather and publish information that should remain for young people. Your book connects thoroughly and pleasantly seasons with a huge distance between them and offers a significant heirloom, not only in the Greek Athletic field, but in the world Olympic literature that strengthens positions and attitudes and can bring new fans close to us. I hope it has a good course widely, mainly outside, due to the awful days that our place is going through...."

Konstantinos Peletidis. Mayor of Patras

"....This book presents the entire history of the Olympic Games as it analyses the ideals the Games promoted, reveals their educational role, presents messages of peace and fraternization amongst people, exposes the attitude of leaders with regard to the Games and the philosophers' views on their importance as well as the respect of the people for the Olympic victors....."

Evangelos Rigos. President of International Hellenic Association & Organization for the Dissemination of the Greek Language

"...Through this letter, we inform you that the Boards of Directors of the Organizations, INTERNATIONAL HELLENIC ASSOCIATION and ORGANIZATION for the DISSEMINATION OF THE GREEK LANGUAGE, took into account the letter and the excellent effort made by the Fine Arts Association for the Promotion of the Olympic Hymn as a World Cultural Heritage, we applaud her and support her in your endeavor.

It is a duty of honor for all humanity to restore a virtuous society through rivalry, noble confrontation and the constant search for the ideal of the Virtue of Olympism.

The Athletic spirit promotes with physical and mental strength every feat of struggle, whether war or Athletic epics, to be praised by singers, rhapsodists and to perpetuate their backwardness.

With the hope that your Association will succeed in the divine effort, we congratulate you with praise for this unprecedented initiative of yours. Also congratulation for the excellent Book-Album..."

•• George Marselos. President of the Federation of Hellenic Veterans of Track & Field Athletes

"....That excellent event took place on April 5, 2017 at the Amphitheater of the Acropolis Museum. The members of the Board / OEVAS present expressed their best words for the event, conveying to us your love and enthusiasm for sports, Olympism, and the Olympic Hymn.

Accept our unanimously congratulations, we consider it an honor to be our honorary member as a veteran athlete [champion], we are proud of your presence in the Greek and international arena, your knowledge and the desire to awaken the entire athletic family around our cultural heritage which have been given to us by many prominent personalities of team and individual Olympic sports. We endorse the text-declaration for the promotion by the UNESCO of the Olympic Hymn as a world cultural heritage, we pledge to stand by you in any future activity to accomplish that excellent purpose..."

Georgios Liveris. Author and Journalist. General Secretary of Hellenic Olympians Association

“....The Olympic Games, every four years, worldwide is an opportunity to release relevant publications, for the Games themselves or the Sports they cover. In 2016, with the organization of the Olympic Games in Rio, there were two editions that dared to be released. Both with substantial goals, with interest for everyone object and at a reasonable price.

The Book-Album, on the initiative of Academic professor, Theodoros Mallias from Patras, was an unexpected surprise, as it came from the Achaean Capital, not only to develop in the personality of the Olympic Hymn poet Kostis Palamas, but also to offer with precision, completeness and sensitivity the diachronic image of the course of Olympism from the Minoan times to the present day.

Without exaggeration, it is a very careful book, full of news and Olympic events that covers our sports interests from all sides, but it can also answer all our questions at any time.

Size of 400 pages (but large format), it impresses how completed it is with information, forms, images and Athletic representations(status & vase) from the largest Museums in the world....”

Theodora Gianitsi. Director of the Hellenic Cultural Center (Moscow)

“....Dear Professor Mr. Mallias, Through this let me congratulate you on your excellent initiative to promote by UNESCO the timeless and World Symbol of Olympism, the Olympic Anthem of our youngest national poet Kostis Palamas, as a World Cultural Heritage

Our warm gratitude for the expression of interest towards the actions of the Center of Greek Culture (KEP- www.hecucenter.ru) based in Moscow. They welcome your initiative and in the near future we will launch an immediate mass information briefing, aimed at collecting signatures....”

George Vombras. President World Confederation of Thessalians

“....Honorable Professor, Theodore Mallias, Institutionally and traditionally, we support all significant individual or collective efforts that aim to offer, to promote, to benefit and ultimately to serve social and cultural goals for the good of our homeland Greece. In this context, you clearly have our support and assistance.

The World Confederation through its Federations around the world will inform update, inform and promote your message and your excellent effort. We wish you every success for your honorable actions and for the presentation of the album-book, and through this letter we declare in practice the full support and highlight of your project...”

Club of Olympic Winners. A Magnificent heirloom of the World Olympic Bibliography.

A Historic trek celebrating the sacred gift that the poet Kostis Palamas granted to humanity, the timeless, prophetic and ecumenical Olympic Hymn. A priceless heritage, an indelible source of mental and physical perfection, which praises Olympism through reviving principles and values of peace, freedom, democracy, brotherhood, equality and fair play.

The Ancient spirit of the Olympic Games will unite the hearts of people around the ideals of "Olympism", so as the value of "fair play", and "noble competitiveness", becomes a life principium for the Modern Olympic Games.

"Indeed, Pierre de Coubertin's conclusions after studying and analysing some educational systems was to encourage the youth to practice sport and to convey the values of sport in the educational communities and therefore in all society based on the tradition and the experiences of the ancient Greeks. Sports have long been recognized as the learning field for lifelong values."

Oleg Matytsin
President

International University Sports Federation, FISU

"This text-book-album is unique and truly outstanding! In a world confronted with complex and continuing challenges, full of contradictions, frustrations, turbulences and irritations, the present book will be a precious tool to implement better knowledge of Olympics vision and principles. We need it!"

Claude-Louis Gallien
Former President

International University Sports Federation, FISU

"Prof. Theodore Mallias's book touches upon the values of the Olympic movement dating back to the ideas of Athletics in ancient Greece, tries to evoke ethical feelings inspired by life and achievements of such a giant as Kostis Palamas, emphasizing the values of fair play in modern sports, which makes the book a valuable guideline for University Sports and can be introduced to university libraries as a historical and motivational book which brings a strong educative message to young readers."

THE GREEK COLLECTIONS at Harvard libraries

Ολυμπισμός : Ολυμπιακός Ύμνος, αρχαίο πνεύμα αθάνατο / Olympism : Olympic hymn, ancient immortal spirit.

By Theodoros Mallias Printfair, 2016 From the blurb :

“This edition celebrates the sacred gift that the poet Kostis Palamas granted to humanity, the timeless, prophetic and ecumenical Olympic Hymn. A priceless heritage, an indelible source of mental and physical perfection, which praises Olympism through reviving principles and values of peace, freedom, democracy, brotherhood, equality and fair play.”
